

PRODUCT ADVOCATE PROGRAM

Building technology with trust at its foundation.

About AFOLAOLA — Global Digital Solutions

AFOLAOLA — Global Digital Solutions is an independent technology company building thoughtful software products, platforms, and digital solutions designed around people — not just technology.

We believe great software should respect users, protect privacy, simplify everyday work, and earn trust through quality rather than marketing. Our mission is to build digital solutions that people genuinely enjoy using, while creating lasting value for individuals, businesses, and communities.

Our Vision

To become one of the world's most trusted independent technology companies by building software that puts people first.

"We don't just build products. We build relationships through technology."

AFOLAOLA — Global Digital Solutions

Independent technology, built on trust.

THE PROGRAM

Why We Created This Program

Great products don't become great by chance. They become great because people use them, challenge them, improve them, and recommend them — because they genuinely believe in them. That's why we're building a small community of Product Advocates.

This isn't about creating influencers.

It isn't about chasing referral numbers.

It isn't about manufactured engagement.

It's about bringing together people who believe in our mission and want to help shape better software through honest conversations, thoughtful feedback, and authentic community support.
